

Bio:

As seen on PBS and born from Jersey Boys, Under the Streetlamp is everyone's favorite man band—bringing unforgettable harmonies and high-energy showmanship to the timeless soundtrack of our lives: Doo-Wop, Rock 'n' Roll, and Motown.

Best known for five nationally televised PBS concert specials, the group has reached more than 300 million television viewers, sold more than one million tickets, and generated more than 100 million online streams.

The Streetlamp live show unites four dynamite Broadway performers with an ensemble of world-class musicians for an evening of smooth harmonies, soul-stirring stories, and thrilling choreography. The audience connection is palpable, routinely bringing four generations of music lovers to their feet—together.

Their stunning performances boast a large catalog of original arrangements, including #1 hits by The Beach Boys, The Supremes, The Righteous Brothers, The Drifters, Bobby Darin, Elvis, and The Beatles, plus a repertoire of hits by Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons. On occasion, Streetlamp shares the stage with some of North America's premier symphonies, including the Nashville Symphony, the Edmonton Symphony, the Cleveland Pops, and the Oklahoma City Philharmonic.
